

Search Artsy

Art

9 photographers shortlisted for Nikon Emerging Photographer Award 2024.

Maxwell Rabb

Apr 30, 2024 11:11PM, via Photo London

Aisha Seriki, Orí Inú 1, 2023. Courtesy of the artist and Doyle Wham.

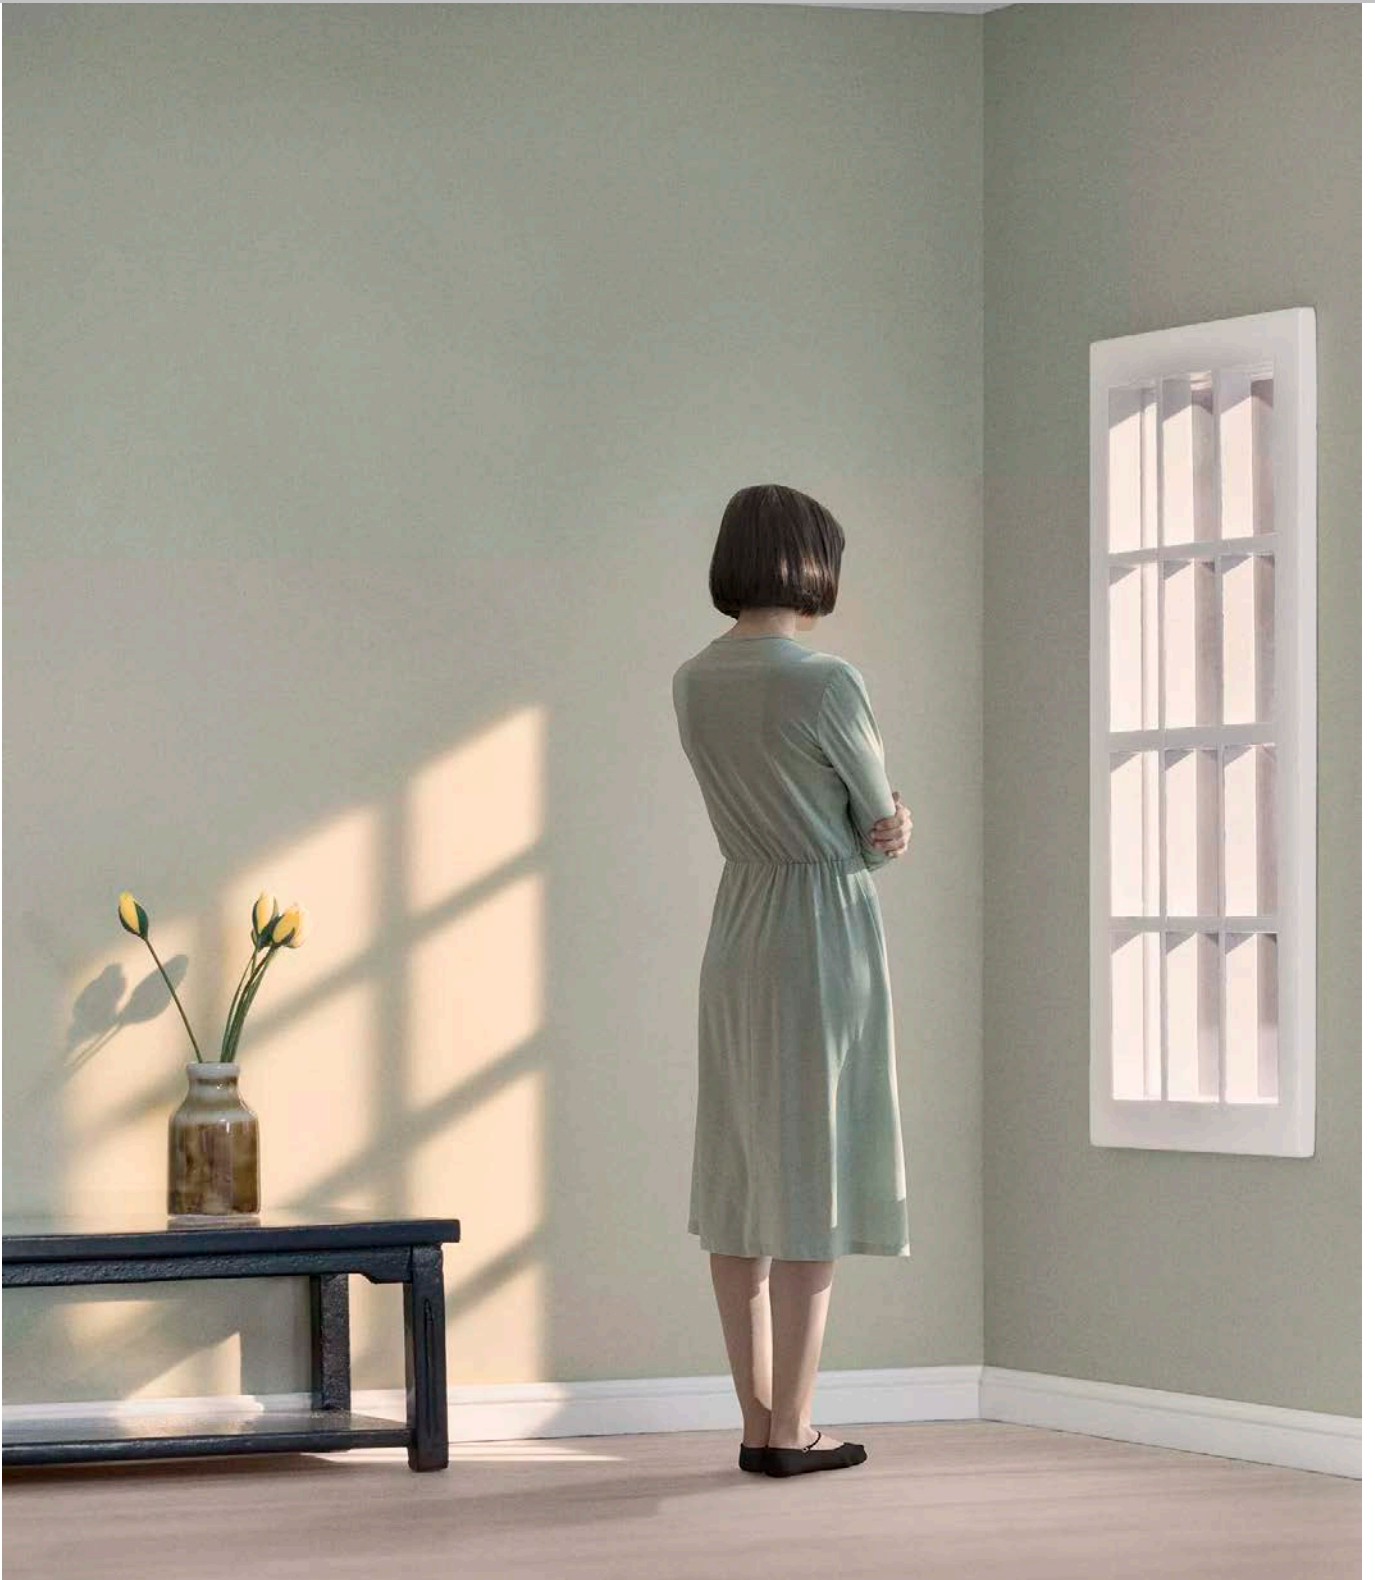

The ninth edition of Photo London has announced the shortlisted photographers for its Nikon Emerging Photographer Award 2024.

The shortlist includes Aisha Seriki, Ali Tahayori, Caroline Tompkins, Skip to Main Content ês d'Orey, Isabelle Young, Johnny Mae Hauser, Lise

May 15th at Somerset House.

The award, inaugurated in 2015, is part of a collaboration with Nikon that intends to elevate the profiles of new, young lens-based artists. “Nikon has a proud legacy spanning more than 100 years of empowering photographers to tell stories in powerful ways,” said Julian Harvie, Nikon’s marketing director for Northern Europe. “The immensity of talent among emerging photographers is breathtaking.”

Lise Johansson, Absence, 2019. Courtesy of the artist and In The Gallery.

The shortlisted photographers represent a diverse geographic mix — from Nigerian artist Aisha Seriki’s photography influenced by the tradition (presented at the fair by Doyle Wham) to Skip to Main Content

Also shortlisted is Lise Johansson, who will be exhibiting work with Copenhagen-founded In The Gallery, employing digitally manipulated images of miniature scenes to create dream-like scenarios; as well as Sander Coers, whose nuanced depictions of contemporary masculinity will be shown by London's Open Doors Gallery.

In 2023, the Nikon Emerging Photographer Award was awarded to French artist Léa Habourdin, following British photographer Max Miechowski's win in 2022. ■

Maxwell Rabb

Maxwell Rabb is Artsy's Staff Writer.

Meet your new art advisor.

Get the app. Get the art.

Skip to Main Content

Skip to Main Content